NOTES

Fee Increases

Normally King's fees increase yearly (typically between 2-4%) to take into account inflation and other factors. Validation fees are set by the university and can change in the future. The yearly fee illustrations overleaf are based on the 2020-21.

Overall Costs and Time Limits

The MA degree consists of 180 credits: 120 credits across six taught modules, together with a 60-credit dissertation. The full-time illustration overleaf provides a general idea of the overall cost of the degree (but note above the yearly fee increases).

Each year students choose how many credits to register (min 40 credits per year, max 180 credits). The MA must be completed between one and six years.

Other Fees

The APCL/APEL fee is only due when applying for exemptions for previous studies. Re-examination fees are paid if a failed module is re-taken. Deferral fees only become payable if a student defers modules beyond an assignment deadline. The school runs optional seminars and conferences which attract additional fees not covered overleaf. However, students are not required to attend any conferences or seminars as part of their studies.

Fees include access to various reading resources and there is no prescribed list of textbooks to buy. Nonetheless students should still expect to budget for some books during their course.

Instalments and Discounts

New students commencing part-way through an academic year pay for individual modules as needed. Thereafter, yearly fees are calculated and are due by 20 September. The total payable is based on the number of modules registered for that academic year. Fees settled in full by this date secure a 2.5% discount.

Fees may also be paid over three instalments, with a first payment due 20 September, followed by two equal payments on 10 January and 10 April. There is also the option to pay monthly, with the first payment due on 20 September, followed by six equal monthly instalments due 20 October – 20 March. In both cases the first payment is typically 40% (or 50% for full-time MA students). This is because the school is required to collect university validation fees at the beginning of the academic year.

Methods of Payment

Our preferred method of payment is by direct bank transfer. Fees can also be paid by credit/debit card and cheque if necessary. All fees paid are strictly non-refundable, regardless of reason. This is because of the school's financial commitments to third parties and service providers for every student. Therefore, only pay for modules you are certain of completing.

Overseas students

Most UK institutions charge higher fees for non-EU students. However, King's fees are the same for both UK and overseas students.

Student Loans and Scholarships

King's does not come under the Student Loan Company or Student Finance England. We currently cannot offer bursaries or scholarships. However, we can provide a letter confirming your student status if required, for example if required by a sponsor.
